Scripture Reflection

In our first reading we hear of the seven brothers who were being put to death for their belief in God, and who were not afraid to die, for they knew that there was life "on the other side."

Through the entire text of Luke's gospel Jesus is journeying toward Jerusalem. He had lived His life preaching and teaching and now having arrived at the town that was the center of Jewish belief, and where the temple was located, will suffer and die.

The Sadducees, the priests of the Temple, whom Jesus criticized, were always trying to test Jesus. In this week's Gospel they ask about the afterlife, trying to trick Jesus, as they did not believe in the possibility of resurrection. Here Jesus lets them (and us) know the wonders of the afterlife and that God is the God of the living.

Reflexiones de Escrituras

En la primera lectura escuchamos acerca de los siete hermanos que los estaban matando por su creencia en Dios, y que no tenían miedo de morir, porque sabían que había vida "al otro lado."

A través del texto completo del evangelio de Lucas Jesús está viajando hacia Jerusalén. Había vivido Su vida predicando y enseñando y al llegar al pueblo que era el centro de la creencia Judía, donde estaba localizado el templo, va a sufrir y morir.

Los Saduceos, los sacerdotes del Templo, a quienes criticaba Jesús, siempre trataban de probar a Jesús. En el Evangelio de esta semana preguntan sobre la vida eterna, tratando de hacerle una trampa a Jesús, ya que no creían en la posibilidad de la resurrección. Aquí Jesús les deja a ellos (y a nosotros) saber las maravillas de la vida eterna y que Dios es el Dios de los vivos.
